

APUSH
Chapter 1-5

WORDS OF CAUTION: I hesitate to call this a study guide, it is really an aid to help you consider what some of the most important topics are for your first test. Please take the time to prepare for the test by reviewing your notes, guided readings, and learning essentials packets. Taking an APUSH tests can be a challenge and preparing for them can be just as challenging. We have covered a lot of material in the first several weeks and it is important that you remember your goals and get off to a good start. Many of the topics listed below or very broad, you will need to consider and know the finer points of each topic in order to do well on the exam.

Topics to consider:

The Great Awakening
Slave trade in the colonies
Social, political, religious, economic and geographic differences between the Colonial regions/colonies
Role of women in colonial society
Iroquois Confederacy
Puritan beliefs
Reasons for European colonization in the New World
Columbian Exchange
Reasons for English colonization in the New World
Zenger trial
Maryland Act of Toleration
Mayflower Compact
John Winthrop's "City Upon a Hill"
Other European nations settlements in the New World
Colonial relations with Native Americans
Bacon's Rebellion
Stono Rebellion
Education in the colonies
Roger Williams and Anne Hutchinson
King Phillips War
Headright System and indentured servants
Triangular Trade and the Middle Passage
Halfway Covenant
The importance of tobacco, rice, indigo, and sugar
Geographic, social, and economic factors of slavery

* Review all key terms, names, and vocabulary that have appeared in either the summer reading assignments for chapters 1-3 or the guided notes and learning essentials packets for chapters 4-5.